GOING INTO CAMP

William Channing Cole.

William Channing Cole died at his home in Norway village, Monday, about the noon hour. He had been sick for some time, but a short time before his death it was thought that he was improving, though it was doubtful if he would be well again, but the end was not looked for so soon.
He was born in Norway and his home has always been here. He was the son of Pamela and Horatio Gates Cole and was born Oct. 19, 1846. His occupation was that of a farmer and carpenter. At the age of 14 years he enlisted in the 20th Maine Regiment. He was later a member of the Norway Light Infantry, serving as 1st Lieutenant, then was elected captain, but resigned before taking command. A Universalist in religious belief, a member of the Masons, Odd Fellows, New England Order of Protection and the Grand Army he had many friends. Politically he was a Republican.
Mr. Cole was also a member of the Olinum and Rocky Dundee clubs.
At the time of the big fire in 1894 he was chief of the fire department. For many years he has served as marshal at all public parades and for the Agricultural society.
In 1897 he married H. Grace Dyer.
They have five children: Horace H., who works at the shoe shop; John D., employed on the Boston elevated railroad;
Harry V., employed by the New England Telephone Co. at Portland; Hattie A., wife of Capt. Andy McDonald of the Cambridge, Mass., fire department; and Amy L., who lives at home.
Of seven brothers there are now two remaining, Fred A. and George A. Cole, both of Norway.
The funeral, Thursday afternoon, at two o'clock, will be attended by Rev.
S. G. Davis.

Mrs. Arthur A. Herriek.

Mrs. Ethelyn A. (Cummings) Herriek died in Norway, Friday, May 8th.
Mrs. Herriek had always lived in Norway. She was born Aug. 14, 1874, the daughter of Daniel L. and Lucenia (deceased) Cummings. She was educated in the Norway village schools and was graduated from the Norway High school in the class of '98.
Her father died when she was small,
and she lived with her mother in the village till her mother's marriage to Mr.
H. Merriam, when she went with her mother to the Merriam farm, which was her home till her marriage to Arthur A. Herriek, June 3, 1907. Then she went to her husband's farm very near her old home. It seems as if that she should be called from a life that promised so much to her.
Besides her husband she leaves her mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs.
Milton H. Merriam, one half-brother, her husband's mother with whom she lived and other relatives.
After getting through school she learned millinery of Mrs. E. S. Skillings in Norway, and she also clerked in the dry goods stores of S. B. & Z. S. Prince and Thomas Smiley. She was a member of the Ladies' Circle of the Norway Central Congregational church and the Lakeview Literary club.
The funeral was from her late home,
Sunday, May 10th, and there was a large attendance of relatives, friends and schoolmates. Rev. B. S. Rideout was the attending clergyman. She was laid to rest in the cemetery at Norway Center just at the time in spring when the trees and the flowers give promise of a new awakening for another year. Her friends literally buried her in flowers.

Company Reorganized.

A. O. Noyes Co., No. 12, U. R. K. of P., recently reorganized, have elected the following officers:
Sir Kt. Capt. Merton L. Kimball.
Sir Kt. 1st Lieut. Wallace W. Sheen.
Sir Kt. 2d Lieut. Fred E. Drake.
Sir Kt. Recorder—Albert L. Sanborn.
Sir Kt. Treas.—Orrington M. Cummings.
Sir Kt. Guar.—George J. Rowe.
Sir Kt. Sec.—Thomas Tibbott.
These officers were installed by the regimental adjutant Harry F. Ames, last Saturday evening, when a large number of applications were received and accepted, and arrangements set on foot for the attendance of the company at the Supreme lodge convention to be held in Boston on the first week in August.
It is understood that these officers will resign after the new members are mustered in and give the full company an opportunity to elect the officers who will command the company on the Boston trip.
The Roundabout club met with Mrs.
C. F. Ridon last Thursday evening.
Whist was played until 10 o'clock. The ladies according to their scores then selected packages, which were all sizes and shapes so no one could tell what they contained. After the packages were all taken, they were opened one at a time, causing great surprise and laughter. These souvenirs were of equal value and mostly useful articles. Mrs.
Ridon had the largest score and Mrs.
George Hathaway the smallest. This was the last meeting of the club for the season and all declared it to be one of the most enjoyable.

Norway Municipal Court.

Friday, David Taylor and Roy Watson were before Judge Jones on charge of willfully refusing to pay fare on the Grand Trunk. They were sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs and in default of payment were given ten days in jail.
Wednesday morning, at 7 o'clock, Edwin Finn, who has several aliases and whose sentence on a previous charge expired that day, was brought into court on a charge of uttering a check. The check was on the Bethel National Bank, and was passed some time in April. The case was continued one week. Finn was held further for examination.

N. H. S. vs. B. H. S.

Saturday afternoon at half past two a very interesting game of ball was started on the Fair Grounds at Bridgton. The grounds were in bad condition. There was hardly a place upon the whole diamond but what there was water up to your ankles. This was great for N. H. S. to play in while they have had good grounds. But the B. H. S. have got accustomed to such grounds they do not mind it.
The score was 0 to 0 up to the last part of the fifth inning. Then there were two outs and three men on bases and Kimball, ss, made an error and let in two men. This set them going but still they were held back and only got one more score. Bickford was hit the first time up to the bat in his left arm and hurt it quite badly but he pitched the game.
A few of the Norway girls went to Bridgton and did some great cheering for their team. They looked pretty slim against 80 girl opponents but it did not phase them any.

Annie Rhea Moore died Tuesday at

Samuel and Lillian Moore. She had been suffering for the past three weeks with some trouble with her head, it is not known just what the disease was but it was pronounced as tuberculosis of the brain at a recent consultation of the physicians. She had had previous to this a trouble in her head that dated back to a sickness from scarlet fever when a child, though it was not considered of a serious nature. About a year ago her hearing was somewhat effected, and she was treated by a physician for this.

Much Missed.

Dorcas Cushman died at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. S. Hutchins at South Bethel, Thursday, of internal cancer at the age of 43 years. A most lovable woman will be sadly missed, not only by the dear ones in the home circle, but by friends far and near in homes where she has faithfully and cheerfully performed her duties as nurse.

Funeral services were held at her sister's home, Monday at 1 o'clock conducted by Rev. Mr. Martin of Rumford Falls in whose home she had brought sunshine and help. Jane Gibson of Bethel, accompanied by Laura Hall, furnished music. In the beautiful sunshine she was laid to rest surrounded by a most magnificent display of flowers, tokens of her many friends.

W. W. Coolidge was in Oxford, Monday.

M. A. Lapham went to Bethel, Tuesday.

F. E. Purington was in Norway, Saturday.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

The Care of Elmvale.

The town at its last annual meeting on a proposition of George Wheeler and suitable consideration passed the following vote:

"Voted to accept gifts in trust to the town of Waterford to insure proper care and attention to Elmvale cemetery in said town, the avenues thereof and the monuments therein; and to maintain and improve said cemetery and its appurtenances in a proper and suitable manner; and that said fund shall be held, managed and disbursed in behalf of the town by a committee consisting of the town treasurer, the chairman of the board of selectmen and the chairman of the cemetery committee for the time being; and shall be invested in accordance with the provisions of Section 14 of Chapter 20 of the Revised Statutes of Maine, and the annual income thereon only shall be expended in the performance of the trust herein established."

The plain design of this action of the town is to secure a permanent fund to be raised by donations of money by citizens interested or by natives of the town now living elsewhere, whose ancestors or other relatives have graves in this cemetery; or by any proper method to increase the amount of said fund to a sum of which the interest alone will be adequate for such purposes as are stated in the vote of the town.

Elmvale cemetery in South Waterford village is the center of more affectionate and reverential interest than any or all of the institutions of the town have had in the hearts of the Waterford people since the inception of the cemetery in 1797. It is a matter of regret that no record of the establishment of this cemetery is known to exist. The pages of the history of the town have been searched in vain for such record.

There is evidence in the inscriptions on the earliest tombstones that the cemetery was used for public burials before 1800. Since that time every year has witnessed the growth of this "city of the dead." Here lie the fathers and mothers, the sons and daughters of the many families, who in the larger portion of the town, during more than three generations, have been consigned to mother earth within the borders of Elmvale cemetery.

Not only are the present inhabitants of the town directly interested in the creation of the fund contemplated by the action of the late town meeting, but it is believed scores, perhaps hundreds of the sons and daughters of Waterford, residing in distant places, whose ancestors or near relatives lie within the consecrated precincts of "Elmvale," will, without exception, desire to contribute their mites to the cemetery fund in aid of already meted.

As one reads the names of the loved and sainted who lived and wrought and made the history of this town, the reverend ministers of Christ, who served their people faithfully more than 70 years, the gifted son of Waterford whose genius has, in the words of our historians, "given distinction to his native town, and whose memory and the appreciation of whose gentle qualities attract throngs of his lovers to make lengthy sentimental journeys every year to pay their tributes of respect at the sacred shrine, the grave of Aretas Ward," we can only wonder that such an enterprise to provide for the protection and improvement of Elmvale cemetery has not, long ere the present year, been consummated.

Mrs. G. H. Ward is reported to be confined to her room by a serious illness. The family of Irving Bell who have spent the winter in Boston have returned to their pleasant old farm home in Blackgang.

Mrs. Oscar Brown, who has suffered a distressing case of grip and general debility for a number of weeks past, is now confined to her bed with a slow fever. All the school districts in town are being favored with nice, large flags by the town authorities, so our children have a daily study of the most beautiful and inspiring object that exists in the estimation of any lover of "Old Glory."

Some grafting of young apple trees and of older and undesirable varieties of apples is being done in the village and outlying districts. Besides the Baldwin, the Northern Spy, Bellflower, Gravenstein, Pearmain, certain Greening varieties, Wagner and Stark are favorites among apple growers and users.

Our town schools commenced April 19. Following are the names of the teachers: North Waterford, Ida Holt; East Waterford, Carrie Plummer; Flat, Agnes Plummer; South Village, Emma Young; Mutiny, Blanche Farwell; Deer Hill, Olive Martin; Blackguard, Rena Martin; Temple Hill, Nora McKenney; Dummer, Grace Sawin. The Misses Martin reside in Otisfield.

Some of our farmers discover that portions of their fields sown to grass seed last year and giving evidence of first rate catch and growth all the season, are badly winter killed. Irving Hamilton has a field of several acres sown down with oats which he is obliged to work with a double disc harrow and will seed it again this spring with Hungarian grass hoping to get a good crop of hay from the piece this year.

W. K. Hamlin upon drawing off the water from his millpond that of this week discovered, much to his surprise that the pond was filled nearly to the high water point by saw-dust—the accumulation of years of deposits from the operations of mills and shops higher up on the stream. E. Doughty (Beal pond) has also received many hundreds of loads of saw-dust from the same source, the effects of which are declared to be detrimental to the breeding and continued existence of salmon, bass and other favorite kinds of fish, hitherto plentiful in that lake.

Leon H. York lately received a renewal of his license as a guide to persons hunting and fishing in the woods and waters of the State and as proper celebration of the event he and Charles Kilgore went to Keoka lake (Thomas pond) and in a few hours they caught twenty bass, averaging three pounds; and four red spotted trout, the largest weighing 4 1/2 lbs. They caught several more bass than those mentioned above while waiting for the trout but threw them back into the lake in strict observance of the law, which permits only ten bass at one time to one person.

NORTH LOVELL.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gammon were at Melvin Allen's, Tuesday.

Seth Harriman has moved to the home he bought of Will Farrington.

B. H. McAllister has bought the Old Fellows house and will make his home there after making some repairs.

Mrs. Lydia Palmer spent Tuesday with Mrs. Abbie McKee. It was a very pleasant occasion as both ladies are invalids and do not get away from home to make visits often.

The best insomnia cure is an alarm clock set to do its alarming about half past 5 g. m.

There are many people who eat only one meal a day and others who don't eat so often.

Taking a thing too good for the thing, but it is sometimes bad for the trust.

When women smoke men will be dead willing that their wives should buy their cigars.

Some people see things differently, and others see different things.

Lives of great men often remind us that magazine writers must live.

Half the world doesn't know what the other half owes.

While this may not hold true of other things, it is certainly desirable that an airship concern should go up.

Improper things may not be desirable, but desirable things are often improper.

The man who made a New Year resolution that resolved didn't go round telling about it.

Actors are invariably superstitious creatures, but they are very brave when the ghost walks.

The Wonder-Nit.
Oh, man, you weak, impatient runt. You poor and childish thing. Pray would you such large bouquets And jars your eyetooth loose. And why consider that you are A large and lordly king?

What have you done to justify Yourself in all this time? Say, have you banished care and want And jabs your eyetooth loose. And aren't you about as small As one thin, time worn dime?

A Kansas poet wind comes along And cooks your little goose; An earthquake shakes you once or twice And jars your eyetooth loose. And when a cyclone comes you drop And mutter, "What's the use?"

You rave about the naughty trusts. And in the fall campaign You charge around as though a few Do jabs your eyetooth loose. You hardly give this bugaboo A well developed pain.

Oh, man, you are a wonder child. According to your tune, But very seldom from the tree Do you bring down the cone. You're cutting such a lot of ice— Not yet, but maybe soon.

Slightly Different.
"That is a very fine stone you have."
"Yes; it is a diamond of the first water."
"Did I understand you to say 'frozen water'?"

When They Are Shy.
Leap year is one of our pleasant fictions. We talk as though perfect ladies took advantage of the occasion to go up to defenseless men and ask them if, kind sirs, they would marry the fair questioners.

As a matter of fact, if there is one time when the ladies are shy it is during leap year. At other times they may give a man encouragement and lead him over difficult paths by reassuring smiles, but during leap year they make him come right out and say it and then pretend they do not understand what he is driving at, so as to make him repeat.

The bashful man who is waiting for leap year to get a helpmeet ready to hand without effort on his part has waited too long. He had better begin at once to get busy with theater tickets and such things to make up.

Some Relief.
"Everything lovely down at the house?"
"Yes; we are leading the quiet life these days."
"How do you work it?"
"Well, you see, we have a phonograph, and it alternates with my wife after supper."

GARDEN SNAPSHOTS
Cuttings of currants and gooseberries should now be taken. Make them about a foot long and from wood of the present year's growth.

Cuttings should be stripped of leaves if any remain and either planted in the cutting bed or tied in bundles and buried in a cold cellar or in a sandy, well drained, high situation outside.

Weedy fence rows should be cleaned out and brush and refuse burned to do away with breeding places for insects, weeds and rabbits.

Tree trunks may be set in September and October where they will not be exposed to strong winds and the land is well drained.

Broccoli, cabbage of all sorts and lettuce may now be sown in cold frames, the plants to be wintered, with protection, in the frame and planted out as early in spring as the ground can be worked.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hall, who have spent most of the winter with their daughter, Mrs. H. C. Ripley at Panhuska, Okla., returned home, Friday.

Melville Chapman, clerk of the Hotel Twitfield, Port Antonio, Jamaica, for the past winter, made a short visit to his father, Eben E. Chapman, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware have moved from Davis block into the Hemingway house on Church street and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Davis are running a boarding house in the rent in Davis block.

Mythian Sunday will be observed next Sunday by Frank K. P. The known in California to need description. The control of the disease is very successfully accomplished by spraying in February or March, just before the buds unfold, but a time which is too late for blight prevention.

Treatments Given.
In the experience of 1905 the one fall spraying controlled both diseases—a most satisfactory condition. In the spring of 1907, however, a very virulent attack of curl leaf occurred, especially in the lower Sacramento valley, while the blight fungus proved somewhat less active than in the previous season.

The result of this attack is plainly shown by the results of spraying—viz, that the November or December application did not entirely hold the curl leaf in check, although as successful as before with the blight. Consequently some orchards sprayed properly and successfully for blight were badly injured by curl leaf, while others sprayed later were protected from curl leaf.

All that had been expected of the blight treatment held good when its effects were differentiated from those of the other disease, but the necessity of two sprayings rather than one for the positive control of both diseases has become evident.

Prune if possible before spraying, but do not delay the work on account of pruning. It is recommended by the California experiment station to spray again for the prevention of curl leaf about Feb. 15, or just before the buds open, with Bordeaux, 20-20-200, or lime, salt and sulphur.

The Albemarle Pippin.
The apple which has made Virginia famous at home and abroad is the Yellow Newtown, otherwise known as the Albemarle Pippin.

Whether pomologists accept the name Albemarle Pippin or persist in calling this apple the Yellow Newtown makes little difference, for it will always be known by Virginians and in the trade by the name of Albemarle Pippin. The high state of perfection attained by this apple fully merits this distinction and the almost fabulous prices often received for it. It is not usual for our growers to sell their fruit for $10 per barrel, and sometimes it brings as much as $12, $15 and even $20 per barrel, about two to three times as much as the average red apple.—Professor J. S. Phillips.

Sugar Beets.
In all cases but one at the Wisconsin experiment station the largest yields of beets and of sugar were obtained on plots receiving a complete fertilizer, with barnyard manure standing next as the cheapest application. Lime applied at the rate of 1,000 pounds per acre produced a beneficial effect on a number of fields, and in one instance a heavy clay soil required a double application to increase the yield of beets and sugar.

As a Dairy State.
California has all soil and climate so varied that all fruits, both deciduous and citrus, can be grown to perfection. All kinds of cereals are grown with success. California has also great possibilities as a dairy state.

More Value.
You mustn't get your feet wet. You know what an ounce of prevention is worth.

"Yes, I have heard it was quite valuable, but I would prefer an ounce of prevention any day."

Charles F. Chase of Providence, R. I., is here again, surveying for the water committee.

Hon. Jas. S. Wright and wife are at Rumford Falls. They went to Lewiston where Mr. Wright attended the Republican convention, and from there went to Rumford Falls to attend court.

Those who attended the Republican convention at Lewiston, Tuesday, included Hon. James S. Wright, Alton C. Wheeler, George M. Atwood, N. G. Elder, N. D. Bolster, George Clifford, H. D. Hammond, Walter L. Gray, J. Hastings Bean, A. W. Walker, W. J. Wheeler, Walter Maxim, S. P. Maxim, Howard Maxim, Edward Jones, Joseph Jones, John Pierce, A. D. Park, Dr. C. L. Why It Is So

When it is known that its power to strengthen the system and build up the body is why Father John's Medicine cures colds, it will be understood why it is so valuable as a tonic and for driving the impurities out of the system.

It feeds the tissues and makes strength; prevents pneumonia and consumption—not a patent medicine; pure and wholesome—50 years in use.

NEWRY.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ramsell are at W. F. Biebee's, visiting.

Selma Smith is very sick with scarlet fever. The school is closed for two weeks.

J. S. Allen sold his farm to Rob E. Mann of Northwest Bethel and he will move his family in a few days. Mr. Allen will run his meat cart during the summer as usual.

BOLSTERS MILLS.

Mrs. Katie Stuart is gaining slowly. Edith Turner is at work in Waterford.

Mrs. Llewellyn Smith is here this week with her line of millinery.

The river-men have been very busy here for several days. The weather is uncomfortable for them, being so cold with raw winds.

BROWNFIELD.

Knocked Down and Trampled On.

W. C. Rowe was knocked down and trampled upon by a cow while he was trying to lead and quite severely injured. He will be confined to the house for some time.

Ellsworth Gilpatrick was drawn on jury and will go to Rumford Falls, Monday, doing the work.

Mr. Byron, the principal of the high school, is boarding at Reuben Lincolnton's.

Little Paul Linscott is just recovering from the measles. There are no other cases as yet.

E. E. Bennett is having an ell built to his house, Howard Dearborn of Hiram is doing the work.

Albia Garland has early peas up, but this cold weather is not conducive to much planting as yet.

Mrs. Florence Rudd and two children of Milton, N. H., are visiting her parents, A. W. Gray and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Brown of Fryeburg visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Warren, Sunday.

At the Republican caucus held Saturday afternoon, F. G. Ham, F. F. Brown and Hiram Gatchell were elected to attend the convention at Lewiston.

Mrs. Annie Lynch arrived, Saturday, at Maple Ridge, the handsome residence of Hon. Eli B. Bean, where she will spend the summer.

MILK PRODUCTION.

Dairying That Is Satisfactory to Cow and Owner.

By Professor H. H. DEAN, Canada.

Atwood says that one quart of milk has about as much nutritive value as a pound of beef. Now, we can purchase in milk nutritive material at about one-third the cost that you can get in beef. I would like you to bear in mind that milk is one of the cheapest of the nutritive foods which we may purchase and has this great advantage over beef—that it is almost entirely if not entirely digested. Man in the process of the study of this question looked for some animal which could give him this nutritive material at the smallest cost, and after experimenting with all the lower animals he came to the conclusion that the cow was the one which would produce milk in the greatest quantity and at the lowest cost.

We have in our stable a Holstein which has produced 2,522 pounds of milk in thirty days, within 500 pounds of the average annual production of cows of Ontario and Quebec. In seven days she gave us 640 pounds and in one day ninety-six pounds of milk. If we had cows like that there would be no trouble about having plenty of milk to drink. A man cannot afford to keep cows that produce only 3,000 pounds of milk in a year.

Two Factors of Success.

One of the factors that we must bear in mind regarding a good cow is that we must have a strong, healthy, vigorous one if we would have milk that has what is called vitality. I think it would be impossible to get the best milk for drinking purposes from a cow that is low in vitality.

Second, the cow must be fed the right kind of food. There are some men so generous that they will feed their cows straw all winter, give them all the garbage they can get and then swear at them because they will not give more milk.

It is little wonder that many farmers are unable to obtain satisfactory milk production. They do not feed.

Winter Feeding.

For five or six months of the year the farmer must substitute for grass such foods as mangels, carrots and corn silage. Turnips should not be fed to cows producing milk. Some people enjoy the flavor of turnips in milk, but the majority do not. If you want the best quality of milk do not feed turnips.

We should recommend the following ration for winter milk production: Eight to ten pounds clover hay, thirty to forty pounds corn silage, twenty to thirty pounds mangels, eight to ten pounds meal made up of equal parts of oats and bran by weight and one to two pounds of oil cake, gluten meal or pea meal, the ration to be given in two feeds daily to each cow. A cow does not need to be fed more than twice a day under ordinary conditions.

Water and Salt.

Give the cow plenty of water. How much water do you think was drunk by the cow that gave ninety-six pounds of milk in one day? Nearly 200 pounds. That does not mean that the milk was water, as her milk tested about 3.5 per cent fat. You cannot water milk through the cow. Only man has learned that trick.

Next give the cow plenty of salt. Treat her kindly. Treat her as if she were your friend.

The cow house should be kept clean and sweet and well ventilated. It is impossible to get good milk from a cow kept in a stable that is not clean.

How to Buy a Couch.

There is not a piece of furniture so difficult to buy as a couch, for only those who know a great deal about furniture can tell you what to buy. A couch, and one bears that the deception is in a miserable wooden frame filled with a little of everything and covered with material which soon fades, says the Chicago News. Believe it that pantsote outwears genuine leather. It stays nice, is more easily renewed and is much easier to use for upholstery purposes than almost any other kind of material. You should look on the underside of a couch before buying it and see whether it is well stayed with braces and not merely lined with thin burlap, which sifts shavings and sawdust every time the couch is moved or touched. There is no economy in buying a cheap couch, for it only stands to reason that the covered framework is the refuse wood of a factory.

How to Clean a Sewing Machine.

Sewing is not half as hard as some people find it if the sewing machine is kept in good running order. When the sewing machine works hard and heavily take the needle and shuttle out and give every joint and bearing a generous bath of gasoline. Of course there should not be a lighted lamp or fire of any kind in the room. Turn the wheels briskly for a few moments to enable the gas to penetrate every part and to loosen and wash away the old oil and grime; then clean it all away. When all the grime and oil have been removed with proper lubricating oil, running the machine for two or three minutes before inserting the needle. Now with a piece of chamomile skin wipe away all superfluous oil. It is a pleasure to sew on a machine treated in this manner.

State Flowers.

The sunflower, it need hardly be said, is the state flower of Kansas. Other states that have legally adopted flowers as emblematic of their growth or aspirations are: Louisiana, which has chosen the magnolia; Texas, the blue bonnet; Arkansas, the apple blossom; California, the poppy, and Ohio, the scarlet carnation, which is now the official flower of the Buckeye State, replacing the goldenrod, formerly the favorite flower in Ohio, as it is of Missouri.

Swasey Nominated.

The Oxford Bears decided to have an Oxford county man represent them from the Second Congressional district, and they decided several weeks ago that Hon. John P. Swasey of Canton was the man. All Oxford county was solid in this opinion and they went to Lewiston by special train Monday afternoon to nominate their man if possible at the convention Tuesday.

They took with them a brass band and a real Oxford Bear mascot to lead them to victory, megaphones and good strong voices.

The "Old man of Oxford county" had the support of his fellow Republicans. At about six o'clock, Monday afternoon, a young man mounted on a prancing charger, A. J. Stearns of Norway led the van, then the band in full voice, followed two by two 92 delegates and other representatives of the foremost men in Oxford county. Then there was the Oxford bear. He wasn't a great big bear, but he was a genuine Oxford bear, killed on the hills of the county. The Oxford County Bear was on a float, built wasn't the county gave their shoulders to his support. With shouts and cheers for Swasey they marched to their headquarters, the DeWitt. Mr. Swasey from the balcony greeted them with a true Swaseyite speech that sent them cheering wild.

Every man of the delegation carried a little triangular flag on which was the word "Swasey" while on their breasts were pinned pure white Swasey badges. There were long stamens, bearing the name of Mr. Swasey which required from four to a dozen men to support, a magnificent satip banner which told Oxford 92 votes strong was pledged to the man from Canton.

Tuesday the battle of the political giants was on, and Swasey of Canton and Sewall of Bath led. Sewall's name was presented by Judge S. L. Fogg of Bath, a former South Paris man, and Swasey's by Hon. J. S. Wright of South Paris. He made a ringing speech, one of his best, his admirers say. There was lots of all day long and many men were so hoarse from shouting that they could hardly speak about the next day.

At 4.10 p. m. the first ballot began. At 4.30 it closed and a little after 5 o'clock the result was announced:

Whole number of votes.....392
Necessary for choice.....196
John P. Swasey of Canton.....212
Sewall of Bath.....180
George C. Wing of Auburn.....17

The Bath man brought up from the Sea Coast a model of the battleship, Georgia, and a lot of rotors but the Bath man took the battleship. In other words he cleared the decks of the battleship and proposes to sail on it to victory next fall. The bear was given to the Knox delegates by its owner, Stanley Bisbee, of Rumford Falls in recognition of the gallant assistance of the Knox County delegation. The bear went to Rockfort under the care of Hon. H. L. Shepard and his growls will doubtless be heard from his new home in the coming campaign.

Hon. John P. Swasey was born in Canton September 4, 1839, and therefore is nearly 60 years of age. He was admitted to the Oxford county bar in March 1863. In 1874 he was a member of the Maine House of Representatives, and in 1875-76 a member of the Senate and in 1883-84 a member of the Governor's Council. He served as lieutenant in the 17th Maine Regiment from April, 1862, to November 1863. He was appointed by president McKinley a member of the executive board of the naval academy at Annapolis.

The Rumfordford crowd was greeted with a torchlight procession and general celebration on their return, Tuesday night.

EAST OTISFIELD.

Hall and Stage Renovated.

Frederick Robie Grange had a very interesting meeting last Saturday evening. A good attendance was present, of which showed much courage among the sisters, as the roads were very muddy and rough. After the program a box supper was in order. About 15 boxes were sold. For fear of increasing the fund in the Grange treasury beyond their ability to judiciously expend it, the boxes were sold very low and to few brothers. Some of our good brothers bought three boxes. The sisters think a free baked bean supper with coffee is more appreciated.

Through the season of bad roads our hall has undergone a thorough transformation. Bro. W. P. Linnell being the master workman. It has been painted throughout and the stage very neatly papered, the hall presenting a most attractive appearance. Much credit is due Bro. Linnell for the artistic taste he manifested in his selection of colors.

OXFORD.

Town Meetings.

A fatal defect was found in the warrent posted at a special town meeting, May 10th, and in consequence the meeting has been called off.

A new warrant has been prepared and the meeting will be held Saturday, May 23, at 1 p. m. As nearly every article in the warrant refers to the raising of money, all citizens who possibly can should attend.

The two special articles are to see if the town will appropriate money enough to enable the High school to continue a full year, and to see if the town will vote to raise money enough to repair the schoolhouses and put them in a proper and comfortable condition. This is a matter that should interest every citizen in town. We sincerely trust there will be a large turnout and that the voters will act in a liberal and intelligent manner upon these two articles at least.

Charles Lovejoy was in Lewiston, Saturday.

Scott Saunders of Mechanic Falls was in town, Monday.

William Boyer returned, Monday, to his work in Somersworth, N. H.

The most forgetful man has been found. He lives in a little town in the upper part of York county. He fell ill with symptoms indicating appendicitis and submitted to an operation. To their great surprise and embarrassment the surgeons found that the appendix had already been removed. The patient afforded the necessary explanation when he recovered from the ether by stating that he remembered then "come to know of it" that he had been through a similar operation two years ago!

Memorial Day.

Memorial Day, that day of days as one great funeral day of ours, is again at hand, and with it comes the ever present solemnity on this occasion, an occasion on which every loyal, honest citizen should do honor to the noble dead—to those who sacrificed even their lives that this nation might exist.

And so to-day we have a great nation, yes in all the greatest and best on earth, so why not show due reverence and reverence and respect to those who fought that the nation might live and enjoy freedom? God pity those if there be such who do not feel it a duty to properly reverence this day.

It is a day when the surviving soldiers and sailors of the great Civil War go forth to place the wreath and spread flowers of love above the mound, beneath which his comrade is sleeping his last sleep, where all of his mortal body lies buried under the sod. However they can rejoice in one thing—that the "spirit" has gone to the God who gave it, and that some day there shall be held that grand reunion, under the great Commander of Commanders and where there shall be no more parting.

Let us all show due reverence on this day. Let all flags be at half staff.

The custom of strewing flowers on the graves of soldiers originated with southern women during the Civil War. The custom spread rapidly through the country, and in 1868 and 1869, Gen. John A. Logan, as commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, appointed May 30 for that purpose. Since that time, May 30 in each year has been observed as Memorial Day in all the states and territories (and district of Columbia) except Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Texas. In Virginia it is known as Confederate Memorial Day.

April 26 is Confederate Memorial Day in Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi; May 10 in North Carolina and South Carolina.

West Side News.

I have some friends in this place that say they want me to write for the local paper and for the sake of those friends I will write a few lines for the good old ADVERTISER.

I have moved down to Stow lately and hope to be able to give a residence so that when I call on the town they will have to keep me and not send me over to Paris to the county farm, where the underpinning goes to the eaves and the inmates play checkers with their nose all day long. This is so much for my friends and to my enemies I will say that if I write anything that out a little deep I hope for the sake of benevolence and charity that I will be forgiven as freely as I forgive them for their harsh judgment of me. With all charity for all and enmity toward none I will send what few items I can think of.

Make of "Headache Cure," Sentenced.

As a result of the first conviction under the pure food and drug law, Robert N. Harper, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, formerly president of the American National Bank, a drug manufacturer, and one of the best known men in the city, was sentenced in the Police court to pay a fine of $500 on one count, and $200 on another, for manufacturing and selling an alleged mislabeled pharmaceutical compound. The mixture was a so-called headache remedy, containing antipyrine, acetanilid, caffeine, alcohol and other ingredients. Mr. Harper admitted on the stand that he would not take the contents of an eight-ounce bottle of his own preparation, because to do so would be dangerous.

The court room was crowded with lawyers, including Chief Chemist Wiley. In default of payment of the fine, five months' imprisonment in the district jail was ordered in the sentence as the alternative.

The Dreamer.

BY A. H. WALLACE.

From the castle gates
A thousand slaves, at his approach
Fall prostrate in the dust.
The while his grimly waiting soldier,
Like some vast forest,
Stand silent and immovable at "arms present."
A seeming endless line of white-gloved hands
Rasp the banquet seat.
And ready at his finger's beck
To fight the world.

Next comes the conquering hero, hailed
As victor in a hundred wars,
On jet black, shining horse,
In caparisons of green, necked and prancing,
And with him, graceful step
He rides, the cynosure of all.
The blare of trumpets, the crash of musketry,
The roar of cannon and the pealing bells
And all the pomp and panoply of war
Flood in his vision.

And now within the ever shifting panorama of
his brain,
There comes to view the orator and statesman;
As he speaks, listened to and loved
By great and small.
Fascinated and eloquent

For his country's good
A tempest he pleads, commands, rebukes;
His voice, with words, vehement swelling
Until his hearers faint would shrink into themselves.
And, like the humble turtle, hide their heads
Within their armor, until his wrath is over.

But see!
And lo! the castle's lord,
The conquering hero of a hundred wars,
The orator of orators, and prince of statesman,
As he is, is but a dreaming beggar.

Three Songs.

(Medicated to a sweet singer.)

Dark was the day and drear and chill,
A storm was in the air;
In moon on every thought,
And naught to do seemed fair.

A stranger passed within our gates,
His cheerful face and mien;
The brown eyes liquid depths proclaimed
With Jesus he had been.

And learned of him the way of life,
He spoke of love and light,
The power of God to save the sick,
The healing which He brings.

And then from out his soul he sang,
"I gave my life for thee."
The words were more a meaning new,
"What last thou than I?"

And from the good old Gospel hymns,
"Sowing for time or eternity,"
We listened to his earnest breath,
"What shall the harvest be?"

And then the song our mother sang,
It seemed not a song,
"There's a land that is fairer than day,"
Our unbidden tears drop fell.

The musty candle, the flower rose;
No more a stranger he,
For brothers all who love the Christ
He was a loving husband and

Sweet singer, go thy work perform,
Thou art with inward fears,
The good thou dost He only knows
Why he was a loving husband and

And in the Lamb's fair Book of Life,
Which none but angels see;
A faithful record is kept,
"He did it unto me."

Barrenness of Appearance.

The modern bedroom would no doubt repel an elderly man by a certain bareness of appearance, such as he would associate with a hospital, or model prison, while his grandson would find the old style stuffy furnishings even more repellant, and would hardly dare to spend a night in such a room unless it were first thoroughly disinfected.

Some one has said there is cleanliness and there is "surgical cleanliness," and it is the latter that is demanded in the best type of chamber furnishing. Everything in a room of this kind must be washable and no useless, dust collecting articles should be tolerated.

Practice Deep Breathing.

To breathe deeply while walking is not only to increase the benefit of the outing, but trains the lungs to expand to healthfulness, and greatly improves the figure by filling out hollows in the neck or preventing them. If it is done at this time it will soon become a habit.

An excellent way of beginning is to inhale slowly while taking six steps. By the seventh step exhaling should begin, taking the time of six more steps for it. This is simple but worthy trying.

A woman who has learned deep breathing almost always is a good sleeper, for nerve and mind are kept in healthy condition by the good chest expansion. Then, too, there is an absence of facial wrinkles and lines, and she is apt to keep her freshness long after the time that most women lose it.

Fishes Worst Enemy.

An authority on fish culture states that the worst enemy to trout and salmon is sawdust in any body of water tributary to the water which contains the fish, by which connection the seepage from said sawdust could be transmitted to the lake containing the fish.

It appears that there are various poisonous oils and acids generated, diffused from sawdust that will kill off the fish faster than anything conceivable. Tannin and other excessive astringents are the main poisons which knock the fish out and it is practically useless to plant fish in water poisoned by sawdust.

Why?

Is one always chilled to the marrow? Is an explorer always intrepid? Is a swoop always a fell swoop? Is a steamboat always empty?

Is a newspaper man always a well known newspaper man? Is a bargain always extra special? Is a ruffian always burly?

And why, why, why is a conclusion always foregone?

Mrs. Charles B. Lamb of Harrison has us look at Volume I, No. 27, Norway ADVERTISER, published October 1, 1844. It was published by Henry & Blake.

Advertisements conspicuously inserted at $1 per square, for three weeks, and one dollar per annum in advance.

There was a good list of premiums offered and a strong board of awarding committee.

There was much said on the "road to Canada." There were discussions, one through William and Raymond to Hailson, the other through Gray and Poland to Norway.

Harper, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, formerly president of the American National Bank, a drug manufacturer, and one of the best known men in the city, was sentenced in the Police court to pay a fine of $500 on one count, and $200 on another, for manufacturing and selling an alleged mislabeled pharmaceutical compound. The medicine was a so-called headache remedy, containing acetanilid, caffeine, alcohol and other ingredients. Mr. Harper admitted on the stand that he would not take the contents of an eight ounce bottle of his own preparation, because to do so, would be dangerous.

The court room was crowded with lawyers, including Chief Chemist Wiley. In default of payment of the fine, five months imprisonment in the district jail was named in the sentence as the alternative.

Several Italians have arrived and the work of putting in the sewers has begun.

Mrs. Geo. Brown was quite sick with the measles, and there are also several cases of mumps in town.

Working in Silence and Alone.

Many seem to think they must be on some high plane before they can do their duty.

They want to see and be seen and known of men, and their thought is not, as it should be, in the work, but in the noise of vanity, and weakness is sin.

He is strong and virtuous who works for the pleasure of the work; who knows that work is its own compensation or who strives without any thought of compensation.

And such are the happy ones of earth. Care seldom touches them and worry is a stranger.

All such have an abundance of hope, and it is well, for hope is faith's indulgent parent, and faith makes men strong—faith in self is a panacea for failure and discontent.

There are some secret places, some quiet corners to build her nest, and she sings her song when triumphs.

The ben gives to the world an object lesson in effective doing.

Nature in the main works in silence, and so far as we know, works alone.

The mighty oak towers to sublime heights from humblest origin and no one knows that it strives; no one sees it expand, but later, all admire its strength, its beauty and its grandeur.

The men and women of the world who accomplish things that endure, toil on while others sleep. They too like nature work in silence and work alone.

Only the weak climb upon the house-tops or strut before the eyes of men crying, "Look at me."

The Dreamer.

By A. H. WALLACE.

From the castle gates
A thousand slaves, at his approach
Fall prostrate in the dust.
The white his grimly waiting soldiery,
Like some vast forest
Stand silent and immovable at "arms present."
A seeming endless line of white-gloved hands
Clasp the burled steel,
And ready at his finger's beck
To fight the world's war.

Next comes the conquering hero, hailed
As victor in a hundred wars
On jet black shining horse,
Gaily caparisoned, team fleeced and prancing,
And with him, graceful step
He rides, the expanse of all.
The blare of trumpets, the crash of musketry,
The roar of cannon and the pealing bells
And all the pomp and panoply of war
Proclaim him victor.

And within the ever-shifting panorama of
his brain
There comes to view the orator and statesman;
As he speaks, listened to and loved
By great and small,
Fearlessly and eloquent
For his country's good.

At last he pleads, commands, rebukes;
His voice, with words, vibrates swelling,
Until his hearers faint would shrink into themselves,
And like the humble turtle, hide their heads
Within their armor, until his wrath is over.

But see!
He wakes!
And lo! the castle's lord,
The conquering hero of a hundred wars,
The orator, the statesman,
As he is, is but a dreaming beggar.

Three Songs.

[Dedicated to a sweet singer.]
Dark was the day and great and chill,
A storm was in the air;
In unison our every thought,
And naught in our hearts fair.

A stranger passed under our gates,
With cheerful face and mien;
The brown eyes liquid depths proclaimed
With Jesus he had been.

And learned of him the way of life,
He spoke of holy things,
The power of God to save the sick,
The healing which he brings.

And then from out his soul he sang,
"I gave my life for thee,"
The words now bore a meaning new,
"Sowing for time or eternity."

And from the good old Gospel hymns,
"Sowing for time or eternity,"
We listened with hearts of breath,
"What shall the harvest be?"

And then the song our mother sang,
"There's a land that is fairer than this,"
Our unbidden tears drop flow.

The music ceased, the singer rose;
No more a stranger he;
For brothers all who love the Christ
Who died for holy things.

Sweet singer, go—thy work perform,
Thou'rt with us inward tears;
The good and holy things he knows
Who numbers all our years.

And in the Lamb's fair Book of Life,
A faithful record there is kept,
"He did it unto me."

The Airing of Rooms.

Why should any house be stuffy? Everybody knows what the term means, although in words it is indescribable; and, once having once acquired the stigma, it takes refreshing and a general renovating to remove it. Careful study of the matter has proved that it is entirely owing to the airing of the beds, improperly aired rooms, and "rooms where all the clothes of the sleeping places have not regularly been removed are always stuffy and it takes but a short time for it to impregnate the whole house with a separate blanket and sheet should be taken off, shaken and laid out on chairs; the window should be open, and the place unoccupied for a full half hour. This done the house remains fresh, clean and healthful.

Barrenness of Appearance.

The modern bedroom would no doubt reap an elderly man by a certain barrenness of appearance, such as he would associate with a hospital, or model prison, while his grandson would find the old style "stuffy" furnishings even more repellent, and would hardly dare to spend a night in such a room, unless it were first thoroughly disinfected.

Some one has said there is cleanliness and there is "surgical cleanliness," and it is the latter that is demanded in the best type of chamber furnishing. Everything in a room of this kind must be washable and no useless, dust collecting articles should be tolerated.

Practice Deep Breathing.

To breathe deeply while walking is not only to increase the benefit of the outing, but trains the lungs to expand to healthfulness, and greatly improves the figure by filling out hollows in the back or preventing them. If it is done at this time it will soon become a habit.

An excellent way of beginning is to inhale slowly while taking six steps. By the seventh step exhaling should begin, taking the time of six more steps for it. This is simple but worth trying.

A woman who has learned deep breathing almost always is a good sleeper, for nerves and mind are kept in healthy condition by the good chest expansion. Then, too, this is an absence of facial wrinkles and lines, and she is apt to keep her freshness long after the time that most women lose it.

Fishes Worst Enemy.

An authority on fish culture states that the worst enemy to trout and salmon is sawdust or the excrement from sawdust in any body of water tributary to the water which contains the fish, by which connection the sewage from a sawdust could be transmitted to the lake containing the fish.

It appears that there are various poisonous oils and acids generated and taking the time of sawdust that will kill off the fish faster than anything conceivable. Tannin and other excessive astringents are the main poisons which knock the fish out and it is practically useless to plant fish in water poisoned by sawdust.
